An interactive exhibition of artwork exploring the different facets of the Devon County Mental Hospital

This is a colourful and interactive exhibition exploring memories of the Devon County Mental Hospital. These memories, gathered from former staff and patients, give visitors insights into hospital routines and the use of hospital space, thereby placing the hospital firmly within the context of everyday life and society.

The exhibition is jointly hosted by the Centre for Medical History, University of Exeter and the arts-for-health charity Magic Carpet. Visitors will therefore be given the opportunity to engage actively with the exhibits and turn their own thoughts and stories into artwork.
